

Focusing Your Business's Social Media Strategy

By Bridget Weston Pollack

You've heard time and again that social media marketing is the key to your business's success. But, do you know where the corresponding lock is? Or how to use it? Social media can seem like a behemoth of a marketing strategy sucking up all your time with results that trickle in at first. Well, fear not; we're here to set you on a clear, strategic path of the right ways to make social media work for your particular enterprise.

Start with the Big Picture

Is anyone on Google+? Will all these social media efforts even make a dent in my bottom line? What time of day should I post to get maximum exposure? You've got

Social Media Strategy

questions and we've compiled the answers. The new infographic, "2013 Small Business Social Media Trends" answers all the questions you've been pondering regarding social media's effectiveness for small businesses, recommended posting frequency, emerging social networks and tips to keep in mind to get the biggest bang for your social buck.

Just "Be Likeable"

Sounds easy enough, right? Today's consumers are looking for businesses to display certain qualities on social media: accessibility, responsiveness, value, authenticity, adaptability and more. In his recent SCORE LIVE webinar, "Why it Pays to Be Likeable - 7 Simple Social Media Concepts To Drive Results" best-selling author & CEO of Likeable Local, Dave Kerpen, shared his 7 tips for harnessing these traits to become more likeable and ultimately see greater business results.

1. Listen
2. Be Responsive
3. Tell, Don't Sell
4. Be Transparent
5. Be Authentic
6. Be a Team
7. Be Grateful

Listen in as Dave shares examples, anecdotes and quotes explaining why each of these 7 concepts is critical to your business achieving social media success.

Handle Negative Comments

You've tried your best to be likeable but somehow it's happened: the dreaded negative comment! It's not the end of your social media efforts and definitely isn't the end of your business. In her recent blogpost, co-founder of IgnitorDigital.com, Carrie Hill, walks you step-by-step through dealing with negative comments on your business's social media pages. As Carrie says, "The benefits of being online and active in social media far outweigh the negative aspects – but when the negative does rear its ugly head – you need to be ready with a solid strategy that your whole team is aware of."

In the end, you've probably come to realize that the social realm is a place your business needs to be. Like really needs to be in order to survive. As with all initiatives in your business, your best bet is to make a plan, follow through, get everyone on the same page, analyze and revise....and get a SCORE business mentor to help you!

TITLE:ROTARY WING TEST STAND 75 HP ELECTRIC

MODEL

MOTOR

NASA/ARC has a requirement for an identical 75 HP electric motor to work in tandem with the existing motor for use in a rotorcraft test stand through a combining gear box. The size of the test stand cylinder to which the motor must fit is 17 inches long with a 5.5 diameter. The motor requirements are as follows: It shall be a 6 pole 3 phase variable frequency motor producing 75 hp in continuous operation up to 8000 RPM. The motor shall be water cooled and operate at no greater than 250 degrees F at full power. Motors cooled by air circulation are not an appropriate alternative due to the small size of the test stand and its utilization area. The utilization area is only 18 inches high by 24 inches wide. P The form of the motor shall be a cylinder with output shaft and mounting ring at one end and power, water, temperature and RPM sensor input/output at the opposite end. Temperature measurement sensors shall be J type thermocouples located at both end bearings as well as in the stationary windings. RPM sensor shall be a hall-effect sensor outputting 60 pulses/revolution of the motor shaft. Motor manufacture and positive testing shall be performed at the manufacturers facility prior to delivery of the completed fully operational to specifications product. P Delivery shall be no longer than 30 weeks ARO. P In accordance with FAR 13.106(b)(1), NASA/ARC intends to purchase a Aerophysics Research Instruments 75 HP Electric Motor from Aerophysics Research Instruments. The identical electric motor to be produce will work in tandem with the existing motor configured to work with the existing power and control system designed for its use. P The Government intends to acquire a commercial item using FAR Part 12 and the Simplified Acquisition Procedures set forth in FAR Part 13. P Interested organizations may submit their capabilities and qualifications to perform the effort in writing to the identified point of contact not later than 4:30 p.m. local time
